

Contents

About the Author	xiii
Preface: The Right Write Stuff	xv
A Note from Linda Taylor	xix
Picture Gallery	xxiv

I What Is it Like to Have Alzheimer's Disease?

Jesus, Albert, Alzheimer's, and Richard	3
There Is No Such Thing as Alzheimer's Disease!	6
What Is It Like to Live in Purgatory?	13
What Is It Like to Have Alzheimer's Disease?	15
They Are Glad They Caught It Early. Am I?	18
The End of Act One . . . And Now, an Intermission of Indeterminate Length	21
Cogito Ergo Sum	24
My Last Six Words	26
Back to the Future	28
FAQs and FGAs	29
Alzheimer's Disease, Suicide, and Death	33
What Is It Like to Have Alzheimer's Disease—Three Years Later	35
Four No Trump	38
"We Have a Pill. Alzheimer's Can Be Treated!"	41
Dreams, Drugs, Alzheimer's, and Me	46
I Wish I Were a Nude Mouse	49
"I Have Been Diagnosed with Alzheimer's Disease"	51
While Rome Burns . . . A Parable	52
Trying to Figure It Out	54
Checking Back in During the Intermission: What's It Like to Have Alzheimer's?	57
Volcanoes, Fears, and Alzheimer's Disease	59
Hemingway, Alzheimer, and Taylor	62
Waiting for	65
Disabling Enablers	67
"Oh, I've Done That Myself a Million Times!"	69

II From the Inside Out

The Chase for Yesterday	75
What's the Up Side to Having Alzheimer's Disease?	77
Pride Precedes the Fall	79
Safe and Sound . . . Unsound and Safe	82
I Am a Verb	84
Whatever Happened to Hope?	87
Moving From Living with My Mind to Living in My Mind	89
And the Name of the 3,000-Pound Elephant Is "Fear"	91
It's On the Tip of My Tongue	95
"I Can Read!" "I Can't."	97
Sing-along with Alois and Richard	99
My Shirt Is Broken	101
Am I Half Empty or Half Full?	104
The Flesh Is Weak(er), but My Spirit Is (Still) Strong	108
Will the Real Dr. Alzheimer Please Stand Up?	110
"Alzheimer's Disease. Alzheimer's Disease. Alzheimer's Disease!"	113
Am I My Brain? Or Is My Brain Me?	117
Good Habits and Mindless Patterns	119
You Sure Don't Talk Like You Have Alzheimer's (The Great Pretender)	121
"Knock, Knock"	124
What Will I Do Today?	126
Drifting Away From My Head and into My Heart	128
Falling	130
Will the Real Richard Taylor Ever Reveal Himself to Me?	133

III From the Outside In

Whose Fault Is It That I Don't Understand You?	143
If It Talks Like an It and Gets Lost Like an It, Is It an It?	148
A Stranger in a Strange Land	150
Hello? I'm Still Here!	152
Christina, Mrs. Hippopotamus, and Me	154
Muddled Puddles	156
A Distinction Without a Difference	158

“Play It Again, Caregivers”	161
My Champion or My Hero?	163
Once Again, My Children Believe They Know More Than I Do	166
Sex, Side Effects, Alzheimer’s, and Intimacy	169
Hanging On with My Tongue	172
A Silent, One-Sided Conversation with My Caregivers	174
Religion, Spirituality, Alzheimer’s, and Richard	175
Plants as Pets	179
“Give Me Your Money, Your Car, and . . . ”	181
“Oh My God! Where’s Richard?”	184
This Little Light of Mine	186
Am I to Be My Spouse’s Son?	189
Okay? Okay! Okay!	192
Have You Ever Participated in One of These Conversations?	194
Is It Okay to Say You Have a “Touch” of Alzheimer’s?	196
Here! Take This!	199
What Is It Like Not to Have Alzheimer’s Disease?	202
There Is Something (More) Wrong with Dad	204
Time to Clean Up Your Act	207
“Don’t Worry About Anything . . . We’ll Take Care of It.”	211
Should We Do unto Others What We Perceive They Have Already Done unto Us?	215
When Most All Has Been Said . . . Little Has Been Done	218
IV Dear Doctor . . .
If I Were an M. Instead of a Ph. D.	223
From My Heart to My M.D.’s Ears	226
Do No Harm	232
Appendix: What You Can Do
Taking Care of Your Favorite Organ	239
Best Friends	241
Act Up! Act Out! Act Now!	243
Web Resources	247